Vocational training key to end unemployment

The Government will continue implementing its youth employment strategy to increase employment opportunities for the youth. The strategy is aimed at reducing the high unemployment rates among youth in the country. The Government has launched various initiatives to encourage the youth to engage in self-employment and entrepreneurship.

The Government is partnering with private sector organizations to create job opportunities for the youth. The strategy includes providing vocational training programs to equip youth with skills that are in demand in the market. The Government is also providing financial support to youth who want to start their own businesses.

The Government has also introduced the Social Protection Programme, which aims to provide financial assistance to the most vulnerable segments of the population. The programme includes providing cash transfers to low-income households and providing school grants to poor children.

The Government is committed to reducing unemployment rates among youth to ensure that they can access decent employment opportunities. The Government is working closely with stakeholders to implement the youth employment strategy effectively.

The Government is encouraging youth to take advantage of the opportunities provided by the strategy to improve their lives. The Government is also working with schools and universities to ensure that the curriculum is relevant to the needs of the labor market.

The Government is also introducing a new initiative called the Youth Employment Fund, which will provide financial support to youth who want to start their own businesses. The fund will provide loans and grants to youth who have viable business ideas.
